

Museum Visitor Code of Conduct

Visitor and Guest Behavior

The IMAS has adopted this Code of Conduct for the safety and comfort of all museum visitors, guests, and volunteers. For the purpose of this Code of Conduct, the museum is defined as the building, the parking lot and courtyard. Those who violate the Code of Conduct may be subject to suspension of their museum privileges, exclusion from museum and/or legal action. Decisions are at the discretion of the IMAS Executive Director or their designee.

The IMAS Executive Director or their designee shall be responsible for the enforcement of the Code of Conduct. Depending on the severity of the infraction, the museum will institute discipline ranging from a verbal warning, through denial of specific privileges, such as attending programs and/or classes, to denial of the right to visit the museum for a specific time frame.

The IMAS Executive Director or designee may either direct the trespasser to cease the violation or vacate the premises. Upon the refusal of such person to obey the directive, the Director or designee is hereby authorized and directed to make a complaint to the appropriate law enforcement agency and to sign any information as necessary charging said trespasser with the appropriate violation of the Penal Law. In situations where the Director or designee feels that the health, safety, or security of the museum visitors or personnel are threatened, any and all appropriate action may be taken including, but not limited to, calling the police for assistance. In the event of inappropriate behavior by a minor, the child's parent or guardian may be notified by the Director or designee. At the first opportunity, the Director or designee shall follow the established procedures for recording the facts and circumstances surrounding the enforcement of this policy by completing an Incident Report Form.

Appeals relating to suspension of museum privileges and/or revocation of privileges to enter the museum premises shall be made to the IMAS Board of Trustees.
